Who doesn't want to make some cash writing about the Boston Red Sox? I'll pay you in beer, please give me a call at 781-69-POSSIBLE. Friday, July 20, 2011 Dear KG: What the fuck is up with Dick? 1. Mere minutes after I get home from Boston, I get a text from Joe Girardi: "Hello Dickey." Then another one: "I'm having a great weekend." And one more: "Can we go out for beer tonight?" There's a "Shoes in the Shower" theme here. I think we can all agree that Girardi needs to wear sandals in the shower. 3. I don't know if I'm ever going to look at Girardi the same again. I guess it's the beard. And then the kicker. Now, I can understand the logic of the $12 million contract Joe and A-Rod signed in 2006. While the Yankees were underperforming, they were the "Yankees" and they had the most championships in history. You paid for that, the Yankees, $12 million. But this is different. Joe Girardi has been knocked for his coaching decisions, his suspensions of A-Rod, the weight room, and the Yankees have underachieved. The bottom line is: The Yankees have not been very good over the last couple of seasons. And the next two seasons will be awful,

MD5 Checker is a lightweight application that can help you scan and find malware components on your computer. Requirements: Windows 2000 / XP / Vista / Windows 7 Windows Server 2003 / 2008 / 2008 R2 .NET Framework 2.0 Visual Studio 2005 / 2008 / 2010 External links Category: Utilities for Windows Category: Computer security software Acceleration and deceleration loads on the shoulder of a cop and the risks of shoulder impingement syndrome. Shoulder impingement syndrome, a painful disorder, may be caused by overuse, certain types of sports or work activities, and a type of fall known as a c-spine hyperextension. This study evaluates the risks associated with noncontact shoulder impingement syndrome. The movements of a cadaveric specimen's upper limb were measured with infrared sensors after the application of impact forces. Anterior and posterior forces were applied to the scapula and to the humerus using blocks. Impingement syndrome was then induced using a method that simulates a hyperextension and lateral flexion with the shoulder in 90 degrees abduction and external rotation. If the humeral head of the specimen impinged on the acromion, an anterior force was applied to the shoulder, and the speed of the humeral head at impingement on the acromion was recorded. A similar test was performed with the humerus and scapula in place but with the force applied to the humerus. A strong correlation was found between humerus/scapula speed and humerus/acromion speed (r = 0.95). A regression analysis showed that a 100-N load applied to the humerus was associated with a 6.4-mm/s humerus/acromion speed. This study shows that a 100-N load applied to the humerus at the acromioclavicular joint is associated with a speed of 6.4 mm/s at impingement on the acromion. Impingement syndrome can be simulated by applying loads of 100 N to the humerus at the acromioclavicular joint with a 7.8-mm/s speed of the humerus/acromion at impingement.Pobierz to Szczytno, oto słynna mieszanka
